Footnotes:

- 1 Sundown marks the start of each day (Genesis 1). First year lambs without blemish were chosen on the 10th day of Nisan to be the Passover sacrifice.
- 2 The coronation of the kings of Israel included the king riding humbly into the city on a donkey, rather than as a conquering king on a horse.
- 3 An intense kosher inspection was to take place on the 11th day of Nisan, and if there were any defects, another lamb was to be selected.
- 4 It was common practice to sell animals for the Passover sacrifice for the pilgrims traveling distances to be in Jerusalem. Business was so good, that most likely the outer Temple court of the Gentiles was being used for commerce. Jesus became indignant and quoted Isaiah 56:7-8 saying, “My House is to be a house of prayer for all nations. And there are yet others (nations) I will gather in.”
- 5 The Jewish leaders did not participate in the arrest and trial of Jesus during the actual Passover Sabbath and week of Unleavened Bread (see Matthew 26:4-5; John 18:28; John 19:14-15). According to the Talmud, whenever the Sanhedrin condemned a person to death, they become unclean and had to disband and reconvene the Sanhedrin with new members. Talmud Sanhedrin 43a states that Jesus was hung prior to Pesach.
- 6 A commanded day of rest by Adonai is considered a Sabbath (Leviticus 23). פסח Pesach – Passover day and first day of חג המצות Chag haMatzot – Feast of Unleavened Bread are Jewish Sabbaths. The Jewish historian Josephus, who lived during the era of the Second Temple, writes that it was customary to offer the lambs around 3:00 pm before the start of the Pesach festival. Matthew 27:45-46 says that Jesus gave up his last breath at about 3:00 pm, and he cried out “Eli! Eli! L'mah sh'vaktani? My God! My God! Why have you deserted me?” Jesus died as the Pascal lambs were being slain.

Talmud Shabbat 87b says, “the preparation day just before the beginning of Pesach was: the anniversary of the offering of Isaac – the substitute ram being caught in a thicket by its shofar (horn); the anniversary of the slaying of the lambs in Egypt and applying their blood on the doorposts.”

Talmud Pesachim 64a says, “During the time of King Agrippa, the High Priest took a kidney from each one (lamb), and six-hundred thousand sacrifices (one for each male) that came out of Egypt.”

Talmud Pesachim 5:5-6 says, “Each Israelite slaughtered his lamb and a priest received the blood... And the priest nearest the altar would splash the blood toward the base.” Within moments the Temple floors and gutters were running red with the blood of lambs.
- 7 Traditional Jews begin ספירת העומר Sefiret haOmer – counting the omer, immediately after the first Passover Sabbath according to the Talmud. The Karaite Jews begin counting the barley omer at the close of the weekly שבת Sabbath. יום הבכורים Yom haBikkurim – Day of First Fruits, coincides with Shavuot (Pentecost). Acts 2:41 says that 3,000 Jewish people accepted Yeshua as their Messiah – the first fruits of a coming larger harvest.
- 8 Some people question whether Jesus could be a true prophet if Christians teach that Jesus died on Friday and rose on Sunday – since he would not have fulfilled his own prophecy about being “in the earth 3 days and 3 nights.” If Jesus died on Wednesday and rose immediately after the weekly Sabbath, he fulfills the prophecy he spoke. According to John 13 & 19, Jesus celebrated a last meal with his disciples 24 hours before Passover began.
- 9 Revelation 19:7-8 speaks of a Feast of Messiah where we will share a meal with Lamb of God during the final redemption. Leaven represents sin, and Jesus who was without sin, became the unleavened bread and Passover Lamb that Paul speaks about in 1 Corinthians 5:6-8. It was not the Jews, nor the Romans who put Jesus on the cross, but the sins of all humanity. Jesus stated in John 10:17-18 that He willingly laid down and took up his life so that we might have eternal life, and that He was following the will of His Father in heaven. How else could our redemption occur?
- 10 חג השבועות Chag Shavuot – Festival of Weeks (Pentecost). Leviticus 23:15-21 says count seven weeks. The 50th day commemorates the giving of the Torah at Mount Sinai. In Acts 2, God poured out His Holy Spirit at the Temple, 50 days after the resurrection of Jesus – the day of the giving of the Torah.
